Third Electoral Literacy festival 2022 held at CU

Bilaspur, May 11:

The 3rd Electoral Literacy Festival, 2022 was organized by the Political Science Department of Guru Ghasidas Central University on Wednesday, May 11, in the Silver Jubilee Auditorium, inspired by the Election Literacy Club program run by the Election Commission.

This program was based on the main theme 'My vote is not only my right but my power'. The Chief Guest in this program was Professor B.N. Tiwary, the Special Guests were Professor Nilambari Dave, Head of Department of Home Science, Saurashtra University, and Dr. Praveen Kumar Mishra, Dean Faculty of Social Sciences. The program was presided over by Dr. Anupama Saxena, Head of the Department of Political Science.

The program started with the release of the poster of the program by the guests and presentation of the outline and importance of the program by the student Samiksha Nair. The program was started by presenting melodious election songs like 'Vote dekar hum farz nibhanega, loktantra ka hum parv manayenge' by the students of Political Science Department.

After that, in a very beautiful and commendable manner, through a street play whose main theme was 'My Vote, my future', the students showed the importance of voting, which captivated the hearts of all the guests. In the next episode, the poster and painting making and slogan writing competition entries displayed before the guests under the 'Wall of Democracy' activity were inspected. Slogan writing under Democracy Wall Activity (Theme of My Vote, My Future), Poster and Painting Making Competition (theme: Voting thoughtfully and ethically), and "Model Code of Conduct" were organized.

These activities were highly appreciated by the guests for the skills of the students. Under this program, a debate competition was also organized on the subject 'There should be a minimum educational qualification for contesting elections', in which the students participated enthusiastically. In this sequence, 'Model Voting' activity was also organized in this festival under which the process from voter registration to the cast of vote was demonstrated practically. In this activity, the students presented the work of all the officials related to the voting process along with their roles through the activity. Addressing the audience at the program, Chief Guest Professor B.N. Tiwary said that the students are full of talents. This is a commendable initiative of the Department of Political Science, which stressed on the need to make people aware of the election system and on showing the importance of voting. He further said that he wished to organize this festival not only at the department level but also at the university level in a big way. Professor Nilambari Dave, the Special Guest of this program said that the glimpse of hard work of all you teachers and students was definitely displayed in this program. This program will develop personality, mental skills, morals and physical strength. Apart from their skills, the students of this university are also ready and forward in the field of education, which is a matter of pride for the university.

Professor Praveen Mishra, Dean of Social Sciences said that being the Dean of talented students like you, I am very happy today. From the very beginning, the Department of Political Science is waving its flag in all fields. The major groups of the university like Tarang and Udaan are products of this Department of Political Science which is a matter of pride for the department. I am always there for all possible help to all of you students.

The program was coordinated by students Sapna Nayak, Himanshu Singh Rathore and Sonia Jaswal and conducted by students Naman Jaswal and Moushumi Namdev and vote of thanks was presented by the students Pratishtha Pandey and Stuti Dinkar. On this occasion, all the teachers of the department, research scholars and a large number of students were present in the program and made the program successful.
