A Brief Abstract of the Event (Maximum 500 Words):

Communication involves the transfer, or rather, exchange of ideas, information, understanding, feelings, emotions, etc. between individuals. It can be defined as “who says what and why to whom through which channel with what effect”. The ability to communicate convincingly enhances an individual’s personality and sets him/her apart from others. The purpose of this course is to develop skills and techniques necessary for effective communication, public speaking and personality development. It will help the participants to communicate better and speak with confidence with individuals, officials, participate actively in meetings, conferences and also to speak from platforms.
